FRUIT JUICE HANDLING SPECIALISTS

Constantly innovating

For more than 30 years Hiwa has specialised exclusively in the storage and processing of fruit juices and concentrates. To ensure the best specialist services in handling and processing fruit juices it innovates and upgrades constantly. Its team of professionals is committed, skilled and innovative. It prides itself on being a totally trustworthy service provider.

Dedicated to client needs

Serving the fruit juice industry exclusively for more than 30 years

Storage capacity = 350,000 m³ / 100,000 tons
Storage temperature = +2 to -20 degrees Celsius

Leading position

More than 60% of the juices and concentrates in drums or bins entering Europe is handled by HIWA. The company works for major producers and packers of juices and concentrates, many of whom hold stocks in HIWA cold stores.

Many of their clients also work with HIWA, and buying 'FCA HIWA Rotterdam Port Cold Stores' has become a concept. Today Rotterdam is a major spot market for most types of juices and concentrates.

Fruit juices from all over de world

All services at one location

At the company's IJselhaven complex, reefer vessels can be discharged directly into cold storage facilities, which means speed, security and savings, and the fact that clients can obtain all they need at one location. Computerisation and its constant updating and upgrading means efficient management of product flows.

HIWA's office staff represent a dedicated team of trained specialists. They know all special requirements of clients, such as in-house customs clearance, transport arrangements and delivery schedules.

Dedicated and committed staff

In-house technical facilities mean accurate communication, precise record keeping and instant action on instructions.

Direct client access

All HIWA clients have online access to the latest data on their stock positions, delivery and release orders, sampling orders, customs clearance status and so on.

All HIWA clients have online access to the latest data.

HIWA has refined its range of services to provide clients with comprehensive logistic solutions dedicated to the reliable and efficient supply of juices and concentrates, including extensive product processing.

Hiwa offers much more than storage. Services today cover a whole range of processing of all types of juices and concentrates. Current in-house services include de-drumming, crushing, de-binning, delivery to tank trucks, blending, processing and drum filling.

The latest installations

Examples of installations currently available and often at work for clients are:

- Six automatic de-drumming installations
- Three crushers/heat-exchangers
- 1 fully automatic de-binning installation
- 17 blending and buffer tanks
- Three drum filling installations
- Two CIP (cleaning-in-place) installations
- Loading units for up to seven tank trucks

Laboratory services

Laboratory facilities are essential to much of HIWA's work and represent a full package of client support. Work is continually expanding, and many clients depend on company laboratory staff to perform a wide range of analyses on their products.

Full traceability

A barcode registration system

Client needs drive all company activities. Instant communication is assured by EDI (Electronic Data Interchange) and Internet. A barcode registration system accurately shows all consignment details of every delivery. All barcodes can be scanned. An advanced tracking and tracing system guarantees all goods can be monitored minute to minute.

Ideally situated

Hiwa's complex is ideally situated in Rotterdam directly on the national highway system, well connected to the European hinterland of 420 million consumers. All major European trade and industrial centres can be reached within 24 - 48 hours.

With the extensive presence of transport companies in the region of Rotterdam, a vast capacity of reefer/normal and tank trucking is on hand enabling clients to benefit from trucks awaiting loads for return. Consignments can be delivered to special schedule or 'just-in-time' as required.

Professional service

HIWA clients do not become HIWA clients by accident. The company constantly invests best efforts to ensure a precise response to all handling, processing and delivery requirements. The company knows that clients need top professional service every day of the year.
